

Medical travel made simple

Headquartered in Berlin, MEDIGO is a curated marketplace that simplifies the complex process of booking medical travel. We facilitate the searching, booking, and arranging of treatment abroad, offering personal assistance along every step of the way. MEDIGO helps patients and healthcare payers who desire affordable treatment, shorter waiting times, or access to higher-quality facilities and doctors through over 900 health-providers in 36 countries. MEDIGO is supported by leading VCs such as Accel Partners, and employs an international team of 50+ people from 25 countries. To enhance our Research and Knowledge Management Team we are looking for a highly determined and business-driven

Intern (m/f) for Project Management in e-health startup

The internship is an excellent opportunity to work at the core of our e-health startup and the right chance to apply and deepen your theoretical knowledge in daily business activities. It is full-time (40 hours / week), located in Berlin and available at the earliest date possible.

Your Tasks

- You work closely with our Chief Medical Officer and support him on various strategic and operational projects
- You assist in project management, provider and network management as well as market research
- You take part in developing, implementing and evaluating new online products and services

Your Profile

- You are currently studying Business, Entrepreneurship or a similar field or doing a gap-year between your Bachelor and Master degree
- You are ideally seeking a mandatory internship and will be available for 6 months
- You have already gained experience in project management with previous internships or working student positions, ideally in a startup or consulting firm
- You have full business proficiency in English and German
- You are an entrepreneurial thinker and possess a very analytical mindset
- On top of everything, you have a can-do attitude and you are enthusiastic and curious about healthcare innovations

Our Offer

- Boost your early career with an internship that gives you lots of understanding about strategic planning and how startups work
- Develop your skills within an ambitious, professional, and supportive team, in a company where independent-thinking and responsibility are essential
- A modern and light office loft (with a 100m<sup>2</sup> rooftop terrace) in Berlin-Mitte with lots of parks and nice cafés nearby
- Join us for knowledge-sharing workshops, sports activities, and regular team events